RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Formalization for MiniZinc in Lean Melbourne, Australia
Mentor: Assoc. Prof. Guido Tack @ Monash University Mar. 2026 – present

- Focused on formalizing MiniZinc in Lean, with the long-term goal of verifying the semantic equivalence between MiniZinc and FlatZinc.
- Formalized core of the syntax and semantics of ground MiniZinc, including core definitions, typing judgments and basic evaluation semantics.
- Created a python script as a translator to automatically generate Lean code from MiniZinc models.

AI for Mathematics, Shanghai Jiao Tong University Shanghai, China
Mentor: Assoc. Prof. Tao Luo @ Shanghai Jiao Tong University Jul. 2025

- Gained hands-on experience with formal theorem proving in Lean.
- Led a group project formalizing the proof of IMO 1988 Problem 6, known as the Vieta jumping problem.
- Formalized the proofs of two linear algebra theorems in Lean.
